This activity will therefore guide you through creating your LVP, in either electronic or paper format.

- b. ongoing access to files you create
- c. files backed up to electronic media

Criterion #2: (Paper format) Creation of your LVP

Attributes:

- b. dividers or tabs available to be used for different sections
- c. ability to add pages as they are generated

Criterion #3: (Both formats) All content you are instructed to add to your LVP throughout Chapter 2 has been added

Attributes:

- b. LVP Key Highlights content added

PLAN

1. Select a format for your LVP (electronic files or paper pages).
2. For electronic format, decide what software you will use to generate your content and map out where and how you will be storing your files.
3. For paper format, decide whether you will use a binder or a portfolio to hold your content.
4. Create your LVP (electronic folder and files or binder/portfolio and pages) before the next class meeting.
5. Add all LVP content generated in Chapter 2 to your portfolio.
6. Write a plan of action for how you will update and add to your LVP throughout this course.
7. Answer the Critical Thinking Questions.

CRITICAL THINKING QUESTIONS

Electronic LVP:

1. What software will you use to create, update, and store your LVP? Why did you choose this software?
2. If you are asked to submit your LVP, how will you do so?
3. Assume that you will have approximately 12 entries in your LVP as a result of the prompts in this book. How do you plan to name those files and keep them in order?

Paper LVP:

1. Will you use a binder or a portfolio for your LVP? Explain your decision.
2. Where will you keep or store your binder so that it is readily available when you need to add content?
3. Assume that you will have approximately 12 entries in your LVP as a result of the prompts in this book. How will you add and organize that content in your binder or portfolio?
